HOW WE DO IT

Our 5 Step Approach:

Everything we do is underpinned by diligence – a constant and earnest effort to achieve the end goal in the best interests of both clients and candidates.

Our service comprises five steps, each tailored to suit the specific needs of our clients.

One.

Define:

A detailed meeting to begin the process is vital, as it allows us to understand every aspect of the role, including capabilities, background, culture and competencies of the desired executive. This enables us to develop a comprehensive role description, determine the search priorities and parameters, and the criteria against which all applicants will be measured.

Two.

Develop:

We will work with you to identify the companies, industries and geographies you particularly want to target, which, augmented by our market knowledge, will inform our outreach strategy. We will action a combination of research, direct headhunting, source referrals, our own networks and established talent base to create a comprehensive longlist. We will communicate with you regularly to discuss our search insights and calibrate our list of targets.

Three.

Engage:

We carry out rigorous due diligence on all of our candidates and conduct competency-based interviews to assess their potential fit within your organisational structure. All questioning is bespoke to the role and we ensure all aspects discussed during the definition process have been explored, before we draw up our shortlist. Psychometric testing will be carried out on all shortlisted candidates

Four.

Present:

We will provide you with a pack comprising personal profile, interview notes, full compensation information, and a detailed resume, for every shortlisted candidate. Our reasons for inclusion will be discussed in full. We will remain involved through the selection process, including preparing and debriefing our candidates through the interview process.

Five.

Complete:

Once the preferred candidate is identified, Millar Cameron will conduct detailed reference reports, and can provide background checks and psychometrics, when required. We will offer support and counsel through the offer and negotiation stages leading to the successful outcome.

WHY WE DO IT

Millar Cameron was founded in 2007 by Conor O’Callaghan, who together with the senior management team, has developed a global executive search consultancy with unrivalled specialist knowledge, experience and focus on Africa.

With over 13 years’ experience in Africa our commitment is clear, and we are recognised as one of the region’s leading executive search consultancies.

We have developed a profound knowledge of the regional recruitment landscape, both from a candidate’s perspective and regulatory point of view. We have always believed that all clients and candidates, irrespective of their nationality or location, should experience the same level of service as one would expect in more developed economies.
